WHAT IS ANGER?

- A completely normal human emotion
- Triggered by the “fight or flight” response
- Varies in intensity
- Causes can stem from real or perceived threats

COMBAT SKILLS & ANGER

- Targeted vs. Inappropriate Aggression
- Tactical Awareness vs. Hyper-vigilance
- Emotional Control vs. Anger or Detachment
- Non-Defensive vs. Aggressive Driving
- Discipline & Order vs. Conflict

In Combat

- Split second decisions are necessary
- Anger keeps you pumped and alert, awake and alive
- It could be kill or be killed

At Home

- May be overly hostile toward others
- May display inappropriate anger
- May overreact to minor events
- May respond with inappropriate physical aggression.

In Combat

- Necessary to be on edge
- Need to react immediately to sudden changes
- Being “revved-up” means you are ready for battle

At Home

- May feel uncomfortable in large crowds or confining situations
- May be easily startled, especially to loud noises
- First reaction to startle response may be aggression

EMOTIONAL CONTROL VS. ANGER VS. DETACHMENT

In Combat

- Emotions are controlled
 - Fear, sadness, loneliness get suppressed

Home

- Emotions that were suppressed may be expressed as anger

In Combat

- Erratic driving, rapid lane changes, keeping other vehicles at a distance

At Home

- Aggressive driving and straddling the middle lane

In Combat

- Survival depends on discipline and obeying orders.

At Home

- The lack of order and predictability can lead to conflict.
